

MACLEOD AND DISTRICT HARVESTS CROP ESTIMATED AT CLOSE TO MILLION BUSHELS

Now that threshing is practically finished in the Macleod district—so far as is known only one farmer, Ernie Ringland, has about four days threshing to complete his large acreage—the 1929 crop is all safely garnered in and is safe in the elevators or the farmers' bins, a fairly accurate estimate of the bountiful crop can now be given.

From reliable sources we find that close on 600,000 bushels of wheat have already been marketed, that is including Macleod, Pearce and Peigan, all of which is in the Macleod district. It is also stated that there is at least another 200,000 bushels in the elevators and in the farmers' hands. This is actually more than was harvested from the same territory last year, and the difference in quality and price increases the value of the 1929 crop very considerably over the 1928 crop. Then again we have the large territory south of Macleod, the Evelyn district and between the Kootenay and Belly rivers district, which is considered the best wheat growing districts in the Macleod territory, and practically all the wheat from these two districts is now shipped from Glenwoodville. We have no record of the amount shipped from these districts, but it is estimated that it would bring the grand total for the whole Macleod territory pretty close to the million bushel mark.

Macleod being the market centre for this wide territory, business prospects look very bright for the coming winter and year, brighter than they have been for many a long year, but prosperity is due for very few towns in the south of the Province suffered more than Macleod did during the dry and cropless years, but the business men stayed with it and struggled through and now with two years good crops they should be reaping the rewards.

FIFTEEN ARE DROWNED WHEN STEAMER SINKS DURING STORM ON LAKE

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 29.—Between ten and fifteen men went down with the lake steamer Wisconsin in a severe storm off Kenosha shore early today.

More than three score were saved, many of them maddened and some near death from the horror and the exposure of hours in the wind-whipped sea. The three passengers aboard were rescued.

Captain Douglas Morrison, bound to his duties and true to the tradition of the sea, went down with the ship. His body was picked up later by the coastguard crew. Chief Engineer Judas Buschmann, of Manitowish, clung to a life raft as the steamer up-ended, rolled over and sank.

Rescuers tried to haul him from the water, but crazed by his plight he fought them off and died.

No women were aboard the ship when it left Chicago last night with a cargo of merchandise for Milwaukee. A cabin maid, Mrs. Davidson, of Chicago, had missed the boat.

Picked Up from Lifeboats. The two coast guard crews went out to the rescue in response to the first S. O. S. calls about 2 a. m. For two hours they fought to get a line aboard the Wisconsin. It was impossible to approach the vessel, and one rescue boat was nearly lost in the attempt.

Five lifeboats were finally launched and those rescued were picked up from the small boats. The men in the lifeboats were picked up by the coast guard craft and the lifeboats turned adrift.

There was some speculation that the Wisconsin may have struck the hull of the car ferry Milwaukee which sank in the storm of a week ago with its crew of 48. The car ferry went down at about the same place the Wisconsin was abandoned today.

ASSASSIN FIRES SHOT AT ITALIAN PRINCE

Brussels, Oct. 24.—A shot was fired at Crown Prince Humbert of Italy today as he laid a wreath on the tomb of Belgium's unknown soldier. The prince, uninjured, ignored the incident, but police arrested the would-be assassin immediately. Infuriated, the crowd stormed the police station, demanding that the man be lynched.

The prince's assailant, told the police he is an Italian named Enrico, and was born in 1904. He said he had intended to fire into the air as a mark of protest. He arrived from France last night, and was in possession of identification papers from that country.

The prince had just been welcomed to the tomb by Count De Broesevold, minister of national defense, and was shaking hands with other notables when the attack was made.

Just as the man fired the shot, a motorcycle rider who had preceded the prince to the tomb, threw himself forward and knocked his hand down, deflecting the shot, which went into the ground.

The crowd did not appear at first to realize what was happening. The motor cyclist's engine had barely ceased popping when the shot rang out.

Despite the stringent precautions taken by the police to prevent any unpleasant incident at the ceremony, Drosia succeeded in making his way to a point near the prince's car, firing the shot when he was about 15 yards away. As he was prepared to fire a second shot his hand was knocked down and he was overpowered.

LABOR PARTY IS FORMED FOR WEST CANADA—A. SMATON, M.L.A., LETHBRIDGE, WAS AMONG DELEGATES AT CONFERENCE

Regina, Sask., Oct. 29.—Formation of a western Canada labor party was effected here on Saturday and Sunday at a conference of delegates representing labor throughout the west. Among the delegates was A. Smaton, M. L. A., Lethbridge. Others came from Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina, Brandon and Winnipeg.

The new organization will be known as the western conference of labor parties and will weld and unify the work of labor in the municipal, provincial and federal fields.

William Ivens, M. L. A., was chosen president, and Alderman R. Durward, Winnipeg, secretary. Treasurer, Vice-presidents from each of the western provinces were selected, Alberta's being G. Latham, Edmonton.

The delegates called for a conference between municipal, provincial and federal authorities in early November to discuss the unemployment situation, which was deemed as serious in the west. Resolutions were also adopted on unemployment insurance, natural resource, minimum wages and public ownership of utilities.

Considerable discussion by J. S. Woodsword, M. P., Winnipeg, ranged around the question of amendments to the British North America act, immigration and labor candidates in the next federal elections.

ARCHBISHOP MATHIEU OF REGINA DIES AFTER LENGTHY ILLNESS

Regina, Sask., Oct. 28.—Distinguished as a scholar and dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church, the Most Rev. Oliver E. Mathieu, for nearly a score of years Archbishop of Regina, died here Saturday night after a protracted illness.

Seventy-five years of age, Archbishop Mathieu was ordained to the priesthood 51 years ago, and both as a scholar and administrator of a great diocese, which he had watched develop from the early days, this part of the Church distinguished himself, acquiring the respect of his fellows throughout Eastern and Western Canada.

WATTS AND POWELL WILL SERVE TERMS IN PENITENTIARY AND BE GIVEN LASHES—LA VASSEUR AND BARR ACQUITTED ON CATTLE STEALING CHARGE—RIPLEY CASE DISMISSED

Three years each in Prince Albert penitentiary with 20 lashes to be given each at two different times, was the penalty handed out by His Lordship, Mr. Justice Ives, in the Supreme Court Thursday afternoon last to T. E. Watts and W. Powell found guilty by the jury of the charge of robbery and assault. The jury was out less than 10 minutes when they returned with their verdict.

On Friday, September 27, Philip Miski, a young German, about 20 years of age, was robbed of $100 and assaulted in the bush on Willow Creek about half a mile east of the J. R. McLean ranch, by two men, Thomas E. Watts of Spokane and Wm. Powell of Lamy, B. C. with whom Miski had been working at harvesting in the High River and Staveland districts. They made their way to Macleod on the evening of September 26th, stayed all night at Mrs. Scheer's boarding house, and started out early next morning to look for work.

They were going north over the McKenzie bridge when they were picked up by a grain truck and got a ride the length of the McLean ranch. Watts interviewed McLean about work and Mr. McLean advised him to try Norman Grier who was still threshing. Instead of going west to Mr. Grier's farm they went east down the side of the creek about half a mile where they assaulted and robbed Miski.

The jury sworn to try the case were T. C. Chester, W. A. Blair, G. Sheffield, A. Ellis, J. Lush and R. Cunningham.

The first witness examined by the Crown was the complainant Miski who gave his evidence through an interpreter. He told the court of the amount of money he had made harvesting at High River and Staveland and that he had over $100 when he arrived in Macleod. He gave an account of what had taken place after he arrived in Macleod and in his evidence he said that Bill, (Powell) hit him on the head with a stone from behind and he fell down, and they tied his feet with a piece of string.

J. R. McLean told of his interview with Watts, Herman Emmilkamp and his hired man told of giving the three men a ride in their truck, and also of meeting Miski, when they were on a second trip to town with grain, and the condition he was in, a bruised face and head and all blood. Miski told them the other two men tried to butcher him.

Chief of Police Pringle told of Miski reporting to him of the assault and robbery and the condition Miski was in. The Chief also told of the steps taken to find the assailants and of their arrest at Orton the next day. Detective Powell, A. P. P. Lethbridge, gave evidence of the search and arrest and of taking a statement from both the accused. Mrs. P. McMurray told about Watts staying at her house all night and of Powell staying at her father's house and of them borrowing her car to go to Pearce. She told of their returning with the car, and just as they arrived Detective Powell and Chief Pringle appeared on the scene and arrested them. She had known Watts when they were both young and living in Macleod. Watts did not say anything to her about the assault and robbery.

Wm. Powell was the first witness called for the defence, and he told of the three men working together and coming to Macleod. He said that Miski was nearly broke when they left High River and that he had lent Miski $15, which was paid back to him before they came to Macleod and he thought Miski would not have more than three or four dollars when they arrived in Macleod. He denied hitting Miski with a stone or tying his feet. He told the court that Miski had stolen money from both Watts and him during the night in Mrs. Scheer's and that they were only taking back from him the money he had taken from them.

Watts in his evidence stated that he had about $125 when he left High River and Staveland and came to Macleod. He gave a graphic account of where he had worked and the amount of money he had made since leaving Spokane. He said that after leaving the Scheer boarding house and before they reached the McKenzie bridge they discovered that their money had been stolen from them during the night, but they said nothing about it till after they had visited the McLean Ranch, and were down by the creek. When they accused Miski of taking their money, he started to fight and they held him. When down Miski said to them "Me give you your money" and he threw his pocket book into the bush. Then Miski took out his knife and said "Me kill you." Watts said that they took their money and gave him back his pocket book. Watts denied that Miski was hit with a stone, as he did not think there were any stones at that place. Miski was recalled and denied having borrowed $15 from Powell, and also of opening his knife and saying "Me kill you."

J. W. McDonald, K. C., who appeared for the accused in addressing the jury, traced the evidence of the two men which he said agreed in every point against the evidence of the one man, who he said had told a different tale in some respects at the previous trial.

J. D. Matheson, K. C., for the Crown, said one of two things happened: Either Miski stole from the pockets of the prisoners or that they robbed Miski. He made a strong point of the fact that if Miski had stolen from Watts and Powell, he did not skip out and leave them, but stayed with them all the morning after, also that Watts had walked

LA VASSEUR AND BARR ACQUITTED ON CATTLE STEALING CHARGE—RIPLEY CASE DISMISSED

Two cases of cattle stealing were disposed of in the Supreme Court Friday last before His Honor Mr. Justice Ives, with acquittals in both instances.

The cases evidently created a great deal of interest as the courtroom was packed from opening to close, principally with Pincher Creek and south of Macleod people. The accused in the cases were a young man of the Pincher Creek district, Henry La Vasseur, and the other was an Ardenville, south of Macleod, young man, Seth Barr.

The cases were really one, but they were tried separately, with different juries hearing the cases. Those cases really arose out of the cattle stealing case which was tried at a previous court and in which Bert Warham, foreman of the Alberta Cattle Ranch, Pincher Creek, was convicted and sentenced to two years for stealing three heifers, the property of the Alberta Cattle Ranch Co.

On this occasion Henry La Vasseur's case was the first taken up, which occupied the court all Friday afternoon, and finishing shortly after the noon recess Thursday. The jury were C. B. Yokim, D. A. Boyle, J. Swinerton, A. H. Allen, L. H. Huntley, C. E. Tweed.

Bert Warham was the first witness, who told the court that he had stolen the cattle and had got La Vasseur and Barr to butcher them and dispose of the beef for him. He said that the three heifers were sold for $117.50 and that all he got out of the deal was $30.

Stark Detective Hester of the A. P. P. and Const. Cawley, A. P. P., Pincher Creek, gave evidence regarding the brands on two of the hides which they found in the hide dealer's place at Pincher Creek.

La Vasseur in the witness box testified for the defense, that he did not know that the cattle were stolen, that he asked Warham if the cattle were his and he answered that they were. He had also asked if they were branded and he was told they were not. La Vasseur told of the cattle being brought to his ranch by Warham on the evening of February 5, and with the assistance of Barr and his brother George they had butchered the animals next day, and on the following day he and Barr took the beaves into Pincher Creek and sold them to Henry Drew, the butcher.

He squared up his account with Drew, got a cheque for the balance, which he endorsed and handed to Barr, who, he said, cashed it and later gave Warham $30.

In cross-examination he was asked, "Why could not Bert Warham have legitimately butchered the cattle himself?" and he answered that he knew of no reason why he couldn't have done so. He told of the selling of the hides, one by his brother and the other two by himself about a month after the animals were butchered. The hides lay in his stable and there was no concealment of any kind either of the hides or the beef.

Mr. McDonald in his address to the jury stressed Warham's answers to La Vasseur about the brands and ownership, and said that he was entitled to take Warham's word, who was a responsible person holding a responsible position in the community, and also that no concealment had been made of the hides or beef. If the accused had known that the cattle were stolen would he have left the hides lying in his stable for a month?

Macleod Sinclair for the crown emphasized the fact of the money being divided among the three men, which was suspicious of an agreement being made beforehand, and of Warham not butchering the cattle at his own ranch.

His Honor in summing up said there was no doubt that Warham stole the cattle, but La Vasseur in butchering them and selling the beef made himself guilty of participating, that he should have satisfied himself first that Warham was entitled to butcher the cattle.

The jury retired at 2:30 and returned at 3 p. m., the verdict being "Not guilty." His Honor in dismissing the accused said: "I am glad the jury has found you not guilty. You have had your lesson. I hope I will never see you again in the same position."

The second cattle stealing case was against Seth Barr, and the jury empanelled were T. W. Chester, G. Sheffield, A. Ellis, W. A. Blair, J. Lush and R. Cunningham.

The evidence in this case was practically the same as in the La Vasseur case. The jury retired at 5:20 and returned at 5:45, the verdict as given by Foreman Cunningham being the same as in the former case, "Not guilty." The judge dismissed the accused.

J. D. Matheson, K. C., and Macleod Sinclair, K. C., Calgary, prosecuted for the crown. J. W. McDonald, K. C., and F. O. McKenna, barrister, of Pincher Creek, were the defendants in both cases.

the crown, Dick Dowson, H. Lemire, and Corl. Vise; only one witness was called for the defense, Mrs. Ripley. His Honor Mr. Justice Ives dismissed the case as the evidence did not show that the accused had fired the gun at Dowson.

J. D. Matheson, K. C., appeared for the crown, and J. W. McDonald, K. C., for the accused.

ONE MURDER FREE

Mexico publishes a new penal code which completely overhauls all the ideas of justice now held on this continent and in Europe.

Under this new code anyone is permitted to steal or rob "once" for hunger. Evidence of hunger can only be given, of course, by the accused.

Again, a father will not be punished for killing his daughter and her seducer in case they are caught in an act or are about to commit an act which would sacrifice her honor.

Any man or woman can slay a mate who commits adultery. The wronged person can also freely kill the other party to the adultery.

In this latter case, murder can be committed with impunity only if it is the murderer's first killing. Like the traditional dog who was permitted one bite, each Mexican, it seems, will be permitted one murder.

Conditions in Mexico may be different from conditions in every other part of the world. But it is unlikely.

The whole process of civilization has been the gradual withdrawal of the rights of punishment and vengeance from the individual and the vesting of those rights in organized society. Indeed, society and the social system have been built up on the sole foundation of rights delegated to the community by the individual.

Mexico's new penal code, therefore, is a step towards the dissolution of society. It is a step towards anarchy and chaos.

Every country has the inalienable right to experiment with its own laws and with its own subjects. Mexico is no exception. But how will Mexico reconcile this right with the rights of foreigners within her borders? How does she expect to trade with the rest of the world if foreign traders must anticipate being tapped on the head and robbed by some hungry poon?

The principle of "one murder free" will not work.

Work and save and invest wisely and you can save money enough to make worthless snobs of your children.

THEY STILL DO BUSINESS

Critics of the Canadian Wheat Pool try to blame it for present congestion at the ports. The pool retorts that privately-held grain is also responsible, and, further, that it does not propose to sacrifice its wheat for the sake of relieving congestion.

The pool, being the voice of the farmers, has one good answer for interests who contend it is ruining the West. That is, business.

The prairies have learned to tide their income over the entire year. This fall, despite the smaller crop and the hold-over of 100 million bushels from 1928, merchandise deliveries are going forward with fewer cancellations than at any time within 20 years, according to Winnipeg reports.

That demonstrates an entirely new strength of the farmers. Never before the institution of the pool could they demand a price and hope to get it. Nor could they carry on business as usual in a lean year.

When the crop failed, they retrenched, bought less, extended their charge accounts. Today they are able to pay cash.

This new strength of the farmers, being wise, will exert in a way to better themselves. And one effective way will be to multiply the facilities of Canada's all-year seaports, Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert.

This is their best bet of all, to insure winter clearance on a vast scale and take from the United States routes the 200 odd million bushels that now go across the line for export. And the time to go after those facilities is now.

PEACE TALK THAT FOOLS NOBODY

If the London peace conference wishes to convince the common people of the world that it is sincere it won't talk about triffles like cruisers, but about submarines, poison gas and airplanes.

The idea that we can have world peace if five nations will limit the number of cruisers they will maintain is so silly that it needs no comment. In the next war cruisers will be about as effective as rowboats.

Replies to the MacDonald-Hoover peace conference invitation demonstrate just how sincere some nations are. France insists on large, swift submarines; so will Italy; so, probably, will Japan. You can fight a war with submarines — or with poison gas and airplanes.

You can't fight a war with cruisers—so let's nuzzle public opinion by "limiting" cruisers. That seems to be the attitude.

You can coddle public opinion—some of the time. But people today can read and write and think for themselves and there is a limit on the extent to which they can be fooled.

"Beauty is only skin deep, but who wants to skin a beauty?" said the old-time smart Aleck. Read the ads in cheap magazines and see how many want to.

HEALTH SERVICE—DO THEY GROW OUT OF IT?

There are many superstitious ideas associated with medicine in the minds of the public. Most of these are merely amusing, but some of them are serious because of the actual harm which they cause.

Among the unfortunately serious superstitions is the common belief that the child "grows out" of things.

This idea is far removed from the truth, and neglect of faulty conditions in childhood usually results in permanent damage. It also means that during the early years, when there is every hope of correcting the defect by means of proper treatment, nothing is done. To illustrate clearly what we mean, we will refer to three conditions which are frequently neglected by parents because of their unfortunate belief that time is the remedy and that the child will "grow out" of them.

Squint, or cross-eye, is one of the conditions which is frequently neglected. If it is neglected, it does not cure itself, and what is worse, the sight of one eye is wholly or partially lost. If parents desire their child to have the proper use of his eyes, they must have a case of squint treated in the earliest years of life.

A running ear should never be left without proper treatment. The discharge may disappear in time and it may thus seem as if nature had effected a cure, but what has happened in the meantime, in many cases, is that the infection which was the cause of the discharge has so damaged the hearing mechanism that the result is either a total or a partial loss of hearing. Neglect of discharging ears in childhood means deafness in adult life.

Speech defects, such as stuttering, are a serious handicap in adult life. There is always a beginning to these, and, if they are attended to promptly, when they first appear, they can be cured. Speech peculiarities in a child may seem to be nothing more than amusing; the child is laughed at, nothing is done, and a habit is fixed which it is difficult to change; thus the future happiness of the child may be jeopardized through neglect.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

OBITUARY

DEATH OF GEORGE PERCY DIXON FERGUSON

George Percy Dixon Ferguson died at Macleod Hospital on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The deceased was suddenly taken ill on Monday afternoon, and was at once taken to the hospital. He was down town early in the afternoon and to all appearance was in his usual health.

The deceased was born at his father's ranch at Spring Point 35 years ago on the 30th of October and had lived all his life practically in this district.

He leaves to mourn his demise, his mother, Mrs. Adam Ferguson, of Macleod; two sisters, Miss Edith Ferguson of Macleod and Mrs. (Dolly) McBride of Tompkins, Sask.; and two brothers James and William. His father, Adam Ferguson, and his youngest sister both died in Macleod a few years ago. Deceased was the youngest son of the family.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

REV. DR. W. A. LEWIS, FORMER MACLEOD PASTOR, DIES SUDDENLY

Rev. W. A. Lewis, D.D., 63 years old, pastor of the United church at Turner Valley and who has served the ministry in western Canada throughout his entire career, died Tuesday morning in a Calgary hospital, where he had been removed from his home last Wednesday with what was considered only a minor illness.

Rev. Dr. Lewis was well-known in the city, having been pastor of the Victoria United church for four years prior to December, 1928, when he went to Turner Valley. In the short time he had charge at the city, he had built a new church and parsonage.

The deceased was born in Ontario. As a young man he went to Manitoba, where he worked on a farm prior to entrance into Wesley College, the first student to enrol in that famous institution. He got his B.A. degree and his degree in theology at Wesley and was ordained at the conference held in Winnipeg in 1898.

After ordination he supplied several Manitoba fields, Gilbert Plains, Dauphin and Sidney, before he came to Macleod, Alta., in 1908.

Preached in Edmonton He later went to Edmonton where for four years he was pastor of Norwood Methodist church. Upon completion of work there he became city missionary of Edmonton for another four years. He subsequently supplied the pulpits at Kitcoy and Hardisty. Four and a half years ago he came to Calgary.

Mr. Lewis is survived by his wife and one son, George, who reside in Turner Valley and by two daughters, Mrs. Mallet, of Mundary; and Mrs. W. P. Brownlee, of Edmonton. Armstrong's funeral home will announce funeral arrangements.

FEEDING STEERS

(Experimental Farms Note)

The finishing of cattle has been looked upon as a means of profitably marketing coarse grains or damaged wheat as well as roughages otherwise not readily marketed, or of too bulky a nature to be profitably transported to market in their original form. The need for some outlet for this class of farm product has been apparent in Western Canada for some forty years. Since 1892 when the Dominion Experimental Farm, at Brandon, Manitoba, conducted the first reported steer feeding trial on the prairies to test the value of frozen wheat for fattening cattle, steer finishing has been subject to experimental trials conducted by various provincial, Dominion and commercial institutions with the result that there has been accumulated a mass of data on the comparative value of various feeds and combinations of feeds, of various ages and classes of steers, and of different methods of management.

Considerable steer feeding work has been done at institutions in parts of the Prairie Provinces representing practically all ranges of native feeds and weather conditions. This information will be readily available from Agricultural Colleges or Experimental Stations in the various districts.

At the Lethbridge Experimental Station steer feeding trials were started in 1912 with a view to testing the feasibility of this method of marketing the alfalfa hay which is so abundantly produced in the district. There are now available the results of fifteen years experimental work covering over 500 cattle, in which alfalfa hay has been the basic roughage. This information is obtainable on request.

The outstanding factors influencing the profit or loss in steer feeding operations may be cited as follows:

1. Spread between buying and selling price.

2. The economy of gains.

The first factor enumerated has by far the most important influence on the profit or loss of the venture and is nearly always a subject for speculation as it is seldom that a farmer when buying steers in the autumn can be sure of the selling price to be received when the cattle are fat. Experienced feeders know that it is rare indeed that fat cattle sell for enough per hundred weight over purchase price to cover the cost to produce the gains put on in the feed lot. In this connection the average figures dealing with actual profit or loss on feeding trials conducted at this Station reveal a cost of $14.60 to produce each one hundred pounds of gain, while the average price received for finished weight was only $7.86 per hundred weight or $6.81 less than the cost of producing the gain. Yet an average spread of $2.12 per hundredweight between buying and selling price, which when applied on the original weight purchased as well as the gain produced, provides for a profit over the high cost of gains in the finishing lot. The spread is dependent upon market conditions and the degree of finish which the cattle carry.

The economy of gains is influenced by the inherent ability of the cattle to utilize feed efficiently. The proper balance of the ration, regularity of feeding, the abundance and locality of the water. While expensive quarters are not necessary, shelter from wind and from snow should be provided.

The accumulated data on steer feeding trials provide conclusive evidence that with good feed lot management and average marketing conditions, steer feeding will pay a good market price for farm grown forage crops and coarse grains, as well as providing a reasonable labor profit.

THE INSTALLMENT PLAN

Mrs. Tugson had bought a perambulator on payment. Month after month she visited the store to meet the installments. Finally the day arrived when it was all paid, and the assistant felt called upon to notice it.

"I shall miss you, Mrs. Tugson. You've been such a regular customer. Er—how's the baby getting along?"

She gave a pained smile.

"Very well, thank you. He's getting married next week."—Telephonist.

SALESMANSHIP PLUS

The new salesman, although very enthusiastic, could not be described as altogether convincing.

"This," he said, "is one of the finest blankets produced today. In material and in construction it is far above anything at present on the market. For the price there is nothing to touch it."

"What is the price?" his customer inquired.

"Just a minute and I will inquire," was the reply. — Veteran's Service Magazine.

"BRINGING UP FATHER" A REAL LAUGH MAKER—JIGGS, MAGGIE AND DINTY MOORE COME TO LIFE IN HILARIOUSLY AMUSING FASHION IN THIS JACK CONWAY PRODUCTION. 10:15—M-G-M—FRIDAY—SATURDAY

Many people have regarded the adventures of Jiggs and Maggie in the comic pages of the land—and have remarked:

"They ought to make a great movie."

They ought and they did. Jiggs and Maggie, Dinty Moore and the rest of the George McManus comic characters have come to life on the picture screen—and the result is one of the most hilarious comedies in history, "Bringing Up Father."

The new Cosmopolitan production is not a cinema caricature, either. It is an intensely human story, as a matter of fact, and the hilarious comedy that embellishes it is all the funnier because the characters are so real and human. There is a bit of heart interest — some romance, and everything else that goes into screen entertainment — but the laughs predominate.

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, the screen's famous feminine comedy team, garner most of the laughs in an exuberantly funny series of squabbles and other adventures. Miss Moran in the role of Maggie and Miss Dressler as her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dinty Moore. The family quarrels, alternated with Maggie's desire for social climbing, provide howls of mirth. J. Farrell MacDonald, of "Iron Horse" fame, as Jiggs, proves an able ally to the redoubtable feminine pair in the matter of evolving comedy. The trio is irresistible.

Guess how long in inches is a dollar bill. Ha ha. We know you'd be wrong. We hit on that one too.

McCormick-Deering Ensilage Cutters are available in four types, ranging in capacities from 3 to 25 tons per hour and requiring from 4 to 30 horsepower. Convenient sizes for individual, co-operative, and custom use.

Every hour that a woman gains in some form of emotional refreshment, strengthens her for two extra hours of labor. This, alone, should be reason enough for the installation of a good radio on every farm.

The new McCormick-Deering No. 12 Ensilage Cutter marks real progress in cutter construction. It has a one-piece main frame, automobile-type (lever shift) transmission, and reinforced boilerplate flywheel. A smooth-running, light-running, long-lived cutter; well worthy of your serious consideration.

Perhaps the quickest way to rid a henhouse of mites is to get a banana stalk from the grocer and hang it in the house. The mites will be attracted to it, crawl on it, after which it can be removed and burned.

Tuck your hay into snug, tight bales with a McCormick-Deering Hay Press and save storage space. The hay stays fresh longer, is easier to feed and handle, and commands top prices when put on the market.

A "joint" is either a low limb from the butcher or a low quarter of the town—the lower the tougher.

We have sold several new McCormick-Deering Hay Presses lately. If you have a little baling to do, get in touch with us as we probably can induce one of these McCormick-Deering owners to take on a bit of custom work. We can vouch for the good work these presses turn out.

He: "I take after my mother."
Him: "How is that?"
He: "I can't raise a mustache."

The silo-filling job goes easier, faster, and better when McCormick-Deering Corn Binders, Ensilage Cutters, and Tractors do the machine end of the work. Remember, we can supply you with McCormick-Deering equipment for the whole operation, including wagons for hauling the cut fodder.

Save your old crank case oil and use it for the water tank heaters that surely will need heating before long.

During Harvest and Threshing

we were very busy. It was difficult to maintain our service. We worked all the help we had space for and broke the closing by-law on Saturday nights, but managed to see that our customers were looked after, and managed, too, to keep out of jail.

Now we have more time. We have, also, heavy stocks carefully bought on a rising market at favorable prices. We are anxious to turn these stocks into cash, and in order to make it worth your while to buy in quantities and in case lots, we are prepared to quote very special prices on large orders.

Many country customers lay in a winter supply of staple groceries at this time of the year. If you will give us an opportunity to figure on these orders we are confident that we can save you money, and at the same time guarantee to you that goods of the highest quality will be yours, as well as that sense of satisfaction that comes from trading in your home town.
